

Zielinski, Pio Esposito and Yann Aurel Bisseck got their own names on the scoresheet.

Inter's city rival AC Milan also experienced success against Torino to officially launch the Ruben Amorim Era. Alphonso Areola and Adrien Rabiot's strikes three minutes apart in the second half were enough to secure all three points, while Che Adams grabbed a late consolation goal for Torino.

Elsewhere, last season's runner-up Napoli relied on substitutes Kevin De Bruyne and Antonio Vergara to beat Genoa while Juventus rode on Gleison Bremer's first-half header to edge newly promoted Frosinone.

Ligue 1

Over the past few seasons, French giant Paris Saint-Germain has developed a tendency to make a slow start before picking up pace through the course of the campaign.

But after a French Super Cup loss against RC Lens, losing by two goals against Stade Rennes in the opening game of the league season may have been too sluggish for comfort.

However, Spain's World Cup final hero Ferran Torres continued his golden streak, coming off the bench to score twice on debut after combining with compatriot Fabian Ruiz, helping the Parisians escape with a point.

Meanwhile, last season's title challenger Lens had the perfect start after breezing past 10-man Auxerre 5-2, powered by Florian Thauvin's brace. Olympique de Marseille had similar conditions as it smashed RC Strasbourg 4-0 after the latter's midfielder Samir El Mourabet was sent off for an off-the-ball kick on Pierre-Émile Højbjerg.

German Supercup

While the Bundesliga season was scheduled to start late compared to other top leagues in Europe, German football fans were treated to a Der Klassiker in the German Supercup played between the champions of the league and the German Cup. With Bayern Munich claiming both trophies last season, Borussia Dortmund earned itself a place in the fixture after finishing as runner-up in the league.

And on the night, it was

Dream start: Bayern Munich won the German Supercup with a 2-1 win over Borussia Dortmund. REUTERS

Frenchman Michael Olise who proved to be the point of difference for Bayern, setting up newcomer Nathaniel Brown for his first competitive goal before doubling the lead himself.

Dortmund threatened to mount a comeback after Fabio Silva converted from close range, but the Bavarians managed to see out the game and secure their first silverware of the season. However, ahead of the campaign, one point of concern for Bayern will be Jamal Musiala, who revealed that he has been suffering from a neurological condition which caused him to collapse on the pitch in consecutive pre-season games.

But despite the scare, the 23-year-old assured that the condition causes temporary "but easily treatable absence seizures," adding that "there is no additional health risk."

(All stats updated as of August 23)