Five Ashes Tests are currently scheduled for England's 2027 tour, running from June to August, alongside a separate one-off 150th Anniversary Test in Melbourne in March that is not part of the Ashes series. The venues for the Ashes Tests were announced as Trent Bridge, Lord's, Edgbaston, Southampton and The Oval, prompting questions over the lack of Tests in the north of England.

Sri Lanka completed its second successful run-chase in as many matches, with 17-year-old debutant Sanjana Kavindi top-scoring on 46 off 24 as the host overhauled Pakistan's 176. Chamari Athapaththu had given the innings early momentum with 40 off 15 before departing at 55, but Sri Lanka's middle order saw the chase through, winning by six wickets with 2.2 overs unused. The result took Sri Lanka to an unassailable 2-0 lead in the T20I series, following a 2-1 win in the preceding ODIs.

The new ODI World Cup format, which requires the three lowest-ranked qualified teams to play an additional qualification round, was announced to much furore. The boards of Scotland and the Netherlands issued a joint statement saying the changes "represent a setback to Associate Member cricket and risk undermining the progress made in recent years to grow the global game."
