

next. He has now dispatched every challenge the UFC has placed in front of him.

Elsewhere on the main card, Diego Ferreira earned a unanimous decision victory over Billy Quarantillo in the co-main event, while Alexia Thainara continued her impressive run with a decision win over former title challenger Amanda Lemos. Thainara extended her winning streak to 12 with the victory.

Further down the card, in a featherweight bout, Yadier del Valle provided one of the night's most emphatic finishes, stopping veteran Darren Elkins by TKO in just 35 seconds. The result spoiled Elkins' planned farewell fight and further established Del Valle as one of the division's emerging prospects.

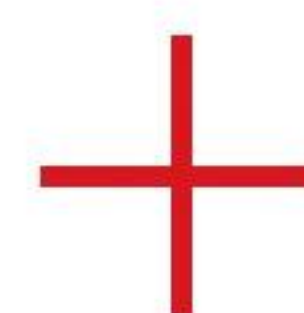

Ty Miller picked up a third-round TKO over Billy Ray Goff, while the prelims featured stoppage wins for Diyar Nurgozhay, Jose Montanha da Silva and Juliana Miller. Steven Asplund, Manoel Sousa, Miles Johns and Carol Foro also secured victories on the undercard.

Rematch on the cards

UFC CEO Dana White announced the card for UFC 331, headlined by a highly anticipated flyweight championship rematch, as reigning champion Joshua Van will defend his title against former titleholder Alexandre Pantoja.

Van initially captured the belt at UFC 323 after Pantoja suffered an unfortunate first-round arm injury. He recently showcased his dominance with a fifth-round knockout defence over Tatsuro Taira. Pantoja now aims to become only the third flyweight in UFC history to reclaim the gold. The card also features a blockbuster five-round lightweight co-main event. Mauricio Ruffy, fresh off a highlight-reel knockout of Michael Chandler, faces No. 2-ranked Arman Tsarukyan, who enters on a five-fight win streak.

Did you know?

At UFC 321 in October 2025, Salkilld (pic, above) took a short-notice fight against Nasrat Haqparast. During the bout, he landed a devastating head kick that knocked out Haqparast in the first round. The kick landed with so much force that Salkilld actually broke his foot on his opponent's skull, yet still walked off smiling..