

» WORLD VIEW OF THE FORTNIGHT

Viktor Axelsen calls it a day

Viktor Axelsen, a two-time Olympic and World Champion, announced his retirement from professional badminton at the age of 32. In a social media post, the Dane said, "Today is not an easy day for me. Due to my recurrent back issues, I am no longer able to compete and train at the highest level."

He won back-to-back gold medals at the Olympic Games in Tokyo (2021) and Paris (2024), in addition to a bronze in Rio de Janeiro (2016). He also clinched two World Championship titles in 2017 and 2022, and triumphed at three straight BWF World Tour Finals between 2021 and 2023.