

after beating VfB Stuttgart 4-2 at home, which gave them an insurmountable 15-point lead over second-placed Borussia Dortmund with four games remaining.

Led by Harry Kane's 32 goals, Bayern has scored 109 goals in 30 games, and the showing has been nothing short of dominant from Vincent Kompany's side, which smashed the all-time Bundesliga single-season scoring record of 101 set by the club during the 1971-72 campaign.

Meanwhile, history was also made elsewhere in the league as Marie-Louise Eta became the first female head coach in Bundesliga history after taking charge of Union Berlin following the sacking of Steffen Baumgart.

However, it hasn't been a smooth start for Berlin's former under-19 men's team coach, as it fell to a 1-2 loss against relegation-threatened VfL Wolfsburg.

Premier League

On February 7, Arsenal went nine points clear at the top of the Premier League after beating Sunderland 3-0 at home, while also being a front-runner in the UEFA Champions League and FA Cup, with a League

Cup final against Manchester City looming. Over the course of the next sixteen games, the lead dwindled to three, the League Cup final ended in defeat, and so did the FA Cup quarterfinal against Southampton. A second consecutive appearance in the Champions League semifinal has been the only ray of sunshine for the red side of London during this period.

And while the league is far from over, a 1-2 away defeat against title run-in specialist City may well have ended Arsenal's chances of remaining in control of the title race.

In perhaps one of the biggest
