

34 } The second semifinal at the Wankhede Stadium in Mumbai on 5 March 2026 featured the most sixes in any T20 World Cup match, with India hitting 19 and England 15. The previous T20 World Cup record of 31 sixes, also at this ground, was set when West Indies (19) and Zimbabwe (12) combined for that tally on 23 February 2026. Overall, only three other T20I matches have recorded more sixes than this semifinal game. Meanwhile, the 19 sixes by India in Mumbai also equals the record for the most sixes hit by a single team in a T20 World Cup match, a record previously achieved by the Netherlands and West Indies, as shown in the tables below.

92 } The number of innings (in 95 matches) taken by Jasprit Bumrah to claim his maiden four-plus wicket haul in T20Is. This makes it the longest wait for this milestone by any bowler in the format.

24 } The number of sixes from Sanju Samson's bat is the most by any batter in a single edition of a T20 World Cup. The previous record of 17 sixes by West Indian Nicholas Pooran in the 2024 tournament was surpassed by five batters in this edition.

8 } The number of ICC Men's titles won by India. However, Australia holds the most with 10 titles. Australia is the only team to win all four ICC titles: the Cricket World Cup (CWC), Champions Trophy (CT), T20 World Cup (T20WC), and World Test Championship (WTC).

+ shared title

Note: CWC were played in 1975, 1979 and 1983 as 60 overs.

CT — Champions Trophy was known as ICC Knockout in 1998 and 2000

All records are correct and updated until 8 March 2026.
