« After having prepared so hard for the tournament, it was a tough call. I didn't have a choice; I had to withdraw. — Koneru Humpy on opting out of the FIDE Women's Candidates tournament in Cyprus, citing security concerns »

« "I'm grateful for his support, experience, and everything we achieved together — including one of my biggest dreams in sport. — Iga Swiatek, after announcing her split from coach Wim Fissette, with whom she had worked since 2024 and won her first Wimbledon title last year »

153

Seven-time world champion Ronnie O'Sullivan made professional snooker history by crafting the highest break ever of 153 at the World Open in China. The 50-year-old Englishman pulled off the feat against Ryan Day of Wales on his way to sealing his place in the semifinals in Yushan with a dominant 5-0 victory.

1612

LeBron James broke the NBA record for most regular-season games played, taking the court for his 1,612th appearance as the Los Angeles Lakers tipped off against the Orlando Magic. "King" James surpassed the mark of 1,611 set by Robert Parish, which had stood since his retirement in 1997. The four-time NBA champion, 41, had drawn level with Parish in stunning fashion, posting a triple-double in the Lakers' win over the Miami Heat.

DOMINANT SHOW

Sweden's pole vault king Armand Duplantis returned to the scene of his first world record in Torun, Poland, to win a record-equalling fourth world indoor title in dominant fashion, matching Sergey Bubka's four world indoor titles. Duplantis vaulted six times and cleared the bar each time, winning with a best of 6.25m, while Greece's Emmanouil Karalis took silver (6.05m) and Australian Kurtis Marschall bronze (6.00). REUTERS
