

MESSI 900
UNPACKED

Barcelona

672

Paris Saint-Germain

32

Inter Miami

81

Argentina

115

Clinical: Manchester City won its first silverware this season with a 2-0 win against Arsenal in the League Cup final. AP mins before Senny Mayulu added a third. On the flip side, both Arsenal and Liverpool overturned first-leg away setbacks to beat Bayer Leverkusen and Galatasaray, respectively, while Bayern Munich thrashed Atalanta 10-2 on aggregate to reach the final-eight stage.

Joining them is Sporting CP, which ended Norwegian club Bodo/Glimt's fairytale run. After losing 0-3 in the first leg, the Portuguese champion pulled off a stunning comeback at home, with Goncalo Inacio, Pedro Goncalves and Luis Suarez scoring in the regulation period before Maxi Araujo and Rafael Nel added two more in extra time.

League Cup

Arsenal and Manchester City faced off at Wembley Stadium in a final that was not only about the trophy but also laying down a marker as the season entered its business end.

After Arsenal controlled the first half, City responded with authority after the break. Nico O'Reilly's brace sealed a 2-0 victory, securing a ninth League Cup title for City — second only to Liverpool's 10. Pep Guardiola claimed the trophy for a record fifth time as City manager, surpassing Brian Clough, Sir Alex Ferguson and Jose Mourinho, who each won it four times.

(Results updated as of March 22)

Messi joins 900 club

Lionel Messi's (right) tenure at Inter Miami has been laden with trophies, records and achievements. He has added another by scoring his 900th career goal during the CONCACAF Champions Cup round of 16 second leg against Nashville SC. While his side lost on the night, Messi's 81st goal for Miami saw him join Cristiano Ronaldo as the only players to breach this mark.

GETTY IMAGES