Rassie van der Dussen has announced his retirement from international cricket across all formats. Van der Dussen made his T20I debut on October 9, 2018, and went on to represent South Africa in all three formats. Over the course of his career, he featured in 57 T20Is, 71 ODIs and 18 Tests, with his final appearance coming in a T20I against Australia on August 16, 2025.

The Australian women's team mounted a perfect finish to its tour of West Indies with a 3-0 ODI series sweep. The win followed a T20I series triumph by a similar margin, which comes ahead of the much-anticipated women's T20 World Cup this summer. Alana King was the pick of the bowlers for Australia, finishing the series with a five-wicket haul in the third ODI at St. Kitts.

Cricket Australia has unveiled a 21-player contracted list for the men's 2026/27 season, with several notable changes ahead of a busy run in the ICC World Test Championship cycle. Among the omissions are Sam Konstas, Jhye Richardson, Matthew Renshaw and Glenn Maxwell, while Todd Murphy, Brendan Doggett and Jake Weatherald feature among the inclusions. Australia begins its campaign with a two-Test home series against Bangladesh in August, followed by a demanding stretch against South Africa, New Zealand and India as it pushes for a place in a third successive World Test Championship final.

Zimbabwe Cricket has announced that India will tour the country for a three-match T20I series at the Harare Sports Club in July. The series will begin on July 23, with the second and third matches scheduled for July 25 and 26, respectively. India's previous T20I tour of Zimbabwe came in July 2024, when the visitor secured a 4-1 series win. The two sides last met during the Super Eight stage of the ICC Men's T20 World Cup 2026 in Chennai, where India won by 72 runs.
