

» FROM THE
WORLD OF CRICKET

New Zealand wins series with 2-0 lead against Zimbabwe

1 Amelia Kerr's spell marked only the seventh instance of a bowler claiming seven wickets in a women's ODI.

Amelia Kerr returned career-best figures of 7 for 34 as New Zealand secured an eight-wicket win over Zimbabwe to take an unassailable 2-0 lead in the three-match ODI series.

The second ODI was played at University Oval in Dunedin. Kerr's spell marked only the seventh instance of a bowler claiming seven wickets in a women's ODI.

Earlier, Brooke Halliday had registered her highest ODI score, an unbeaten 157, as New Zealand posted a commanding total en route to a 180-run win in the series opener.