

Gravity-defying: Eljif Elmas' second-half volley against Torino gave Napoli crucial three points in its bid for a Champions League spot. REUTERS

Premier League title race as Manchester City dropped points while Arsenal capitalised with a narrow win.

Arsenal beat Brighton & Hove Albion 1-0, with Bukayo Saka scoring the decisive goal in the ninth minute. The result helped the Gunners extend their lead at the top of the table.

Manchester City was held to a 2-2 draw by Nottingham Forest. Antoine Semenyo and Rodri scored for City, but Morgan Gibbs-White and Elliot Anderson struck to ensure Forest equalised on both occasions.

Manchester United's unbeaten run under Michael Carrick ended in painful fashion with a 2-1 defeat to Newcastle United. Newcastle played the second half with 10 men after Jacob Ramsey was sent off, but after Anthony Gordon and Casemiro had scored for their respective sides, William Osula struck deep into second-half added time to seal the win for the Magpies.

Wolverhampton Wanderers stunned Liverpool with a 2-1 victory. Rodrigo Gomes put Wolves ahead before Mohamed Salah restored parity, but Andre struck in added time to secure all three points.

Chelsea produced a commanding performance to beat Aston Villa 4-1. Joao Pedro scored a hat-trick while Cole Palmer also got on the scoresheet.

Crystal Palace beat Tottenham Hotspur 3-1 despite falling behind early. Dominic Solanke opened the scoring, but Ismaila Sarr's brace and Jorgen Strand Larsen's strike completed the turnaround.

After matchday 29, Arsenal leads the table with 67 points. Manchester City, with a game in hand, is second with 60, while Manchester United (51) and Aston Villa (51) are third and fourth respectively, separated by goal difference. Chelsea and Liverpool are fifth and sixth with 48 points each, while Tottenham (29) is 16th.

La Liga

Barcelona and Real Madrid both registered narrow wins in the latest round of La Liga.

Barcelona edged Athletic Bilbao 1-0, with Lamine Yamal scoring the only goal of the match. The win helped the Catalan giant maintain its lead at the top.

Real Madrid beat Celta Vigo 2-1 thanks to a dramatic late strike from Federico Valverde. Aurelien Tchouameni had given Madrid the lead before Borja Iglesias equalised, but Valverde struck in the fifth minute of second-half added time.

Atletico Madrid beat Real Sociedad 3-2 in a hard-fought contest. Alexander Sorloth scored once while Nicolas Gonzalez bagged a brace for Diego Simeone's side.

Villarreal also picked up three points with a 2-1 win against Elche. The result helped it remain firmly in the race for a top-four finish.

After matchday 27, Barcelona leads the standings with 67 points. Real Madrid (63), Atletico Madrid (54) and Villarreal (54) are second, third and fourth respectively.

Bundesliga

Bayern Munich thrashed Borussia Monchengladbach 4-1 despite the absence of Harry Kane. Luis Diaz, Konrad Laimer, Jamal Musiala and Nicolas Jackson were on the scoresheet for the defending champion.

Borussia Dortmund beat Cologne 2-1, with Serhou Guirassy and Maximilian Beier finding the net.

RB Leipzig also registered a 2-1 win against Augsburg. Yan Diomande scored while Arthur Chavez's own goal sealed the result.

Hoffenheim beat Heidenheim 4-2 in an entertaining contest. Eintracht Frankfurt and Mainz shared the spoils in a 2-2 draw.

After matchday 25, Bayern (66) leads the standings, followed by Dortmund (55), Hoffenheim (49) and Stuttgart (47). Leipzig (47) is fifth.

Ligue 1

Monaco exacted revenge on PSG for dumping it out of the Champions League by handing the reigning champion its first home defeat of the league season. Maghnes Aklouché put the visitor in front in the first half,