

13th

Age, just a number: At age 40, Cape Verde goalkeeper Vozinha was the second-oldest debutant in World Cup history, and he starred as the tiny island nation held European champion Spain to an upset goalless draw. GETTY IMAGES

14th

Fit as a fiddle: There was plenty of discussion about Romelu Lukaku's fitness coming into the World Cup, but the veteran striker made an immediate impact to help Belgium secure a 1-1 draw with Egypt. GETTY IMAGES