

against Arsenal, Enzo Maresca would have been the happier of the two managers, while Arteta would see it as two points dropped.

Manchester City was moments away from being held to a frustrating 2-2 draw against Leeds United, but ended up winning a five-goal thriller (3-2) after Phil Foden scored in the first minute of second-half added time to secure his brace.

City's rival, Manchester United, was on course for yet another disappointing gameweek after going down 0-1 against Crystal Palace at Selhurst Park. But Ruben Amorim's men clawed back into the match courtesy goals from Joshua Zirkzee and Mason Mount.

Defending champion Liverpool finally found some respite from its torrid form. After two league losses on the trot and a midweek Champions League defeat against PSV Eindhoven, the Reds bounced back with a 2-0 win against 10-man West Ham United.

British-record signing Alexander Isak scored his first Premier League goal for Liverpool, with Cody Gakpo also getting on the scoresheet.

It was a disappointing week for Tottenham Hotspur, which lost 0-2 to Fulham, while Brighton & Hove Albion and Sunderland won their respective matches against Nottingham Forest and Bournemouth.

After matchday 13, Arsenal (30) tops the table with Manchester City (25), Chelsea (24) and Aston Villa (24) in second, third and fourth, respectively. Brighton (22), Sunderland (22) and Manchester United (21) lie in fifth, sixth and seventh, while Liverpool (21) is eighth. Tottenham (18) is 12th in the league standings.

Bundesliga

It was a straightforward outing for defending champion Bayern Munich, which bounced back from its UCL loss against Arsenal with a 3-1 win against St Pauli, with Raphael Guerreiro, Luis Díaz and Nicolas Jackson finding the net for the Bavarians. Goals from Aaron Anselmino and Karim Adeyemi gave Borussia Dortmund a 2-1 win against Bayer Leverkusen.

RB Leipzig was held to a goalless draw against Borussia Monchengladbach. After matchday 12, Bayern (34) tops the table, with Leipzig (26), Dortmund (25) and Leverkusen (23) in second, third and fourth, respectively.

Serie A

Defending champion Napoli edged to a 1-0 win against Roma, which missed out on a chance to go top of the table. David Neres' goal proved to be the difference. Inter displayed an overall sluggish performance against Pisa, but Lautaro Martinez's brace was enough to guide it to a 2-0 win. Inter's local rival, AC Milan, beat Lazio 1-0 with Rafael Leao scoring the only goal of Stalemate: Title favourite Arsenal faced a 10-man Chelsea side that struck first through Chalobah, but the Gunners kept pushing and eventually drew level in the 59th minute when Saka set up Merino for the equaliser (in pic).

REUTERS

