

flashes of sharp ground work and incisive run-outs reflect the results of the rigorous training camps Bali oversees. Some of those gains were evident during the England series earlier this year.

A. I. Harrsha — S&C coach

Asshok Harrsha (last row, sixth from left) serves as a performance and Strength & Conditioning (S&C) coach at the BCCI's National Cricket Academy (NCA). A former cricketer who represented Hyderabad in First-Class cricket, Harrsha has been part of the NCA's high-performance ecosystem for over six years.

Aniruddha Deshpande — Performance Analyst

Aniruddha Deshpande (last row, third from right) serves as a Performance Analyst with the BCCI, working closely with the Indian women's cricket team and the Vidarbha Cricket Association. A former Vidarbha Under-19 cricketer, Deshpande brings a player's intuition and an analyst's precision to his role, blending technical insight with tactical depth to enhance team performance.

Harini Murali — Team Doctor

Dr. Harini (last row, third from left) served as the team doctor for the Indian women's cricket team during the 2025 Women's ODI World Cup. A seasoned sports medicine professional, she has also been associated with the Women's Premier League franchise Royal Challengers Bengaluru, working as both team doctor and manager across all three seasons

Rakhi V Darne — Head Physiotherapist

Rakhi (last row, second from left) has served as the head sports physiotherapist of the Indian women's hockey team since April 2023 and brings extensive multi-sport experience to her role. Before her current assignment, she worked with the Punjab Cricket Association and also served as a sports physiotherapist with the BCCI.

Akanksha Satyavanshi — Team Physiotherapist

Akanksha (last row, left corner)

has been associated with the BCCI as a team physiotherapist for over five years and is currently part of the Indian women's cricket team's support staff. In 2023, she also served as the team physio for the Women's Premier League franchise Gujarat Giants, bringing a strong blend of clinical expertise and on-field experience to her role in maintaining player fitness and rehabilitation.

Dhananjay Kaushik — Head SSM

Dhananjay (last row, second from right), the lead physiotherapist at the BCCI Centre of Excellence, served as the Head of Sports Science and Medicine for the Indian women's cricket team at the 2025 Women's ODI World Cup. With over 18 years of experience across elite and Olympic-level sports, Kaushik brings a deep understanding of athlete management, recovery, and performance optimisation to India's high-performance setup.

Purva Kate (last row, right corner) and Mamta Shrisulla (middle row, fourth from right) served as Masseurs.

SHAPED HISTORY