The 12th season of the Pro Kabaddi League (PKL) will not only be remembered for its thrilling finale but also for the sheer parity and competitive intensity that defined the entire campaign. When the curtains finally fell at the Thyagaraj Indoor Stadium in New Delhi, it was the home side, Dabang Delhi, that stood victorious, clinching its second PKL title with a hard-fought 31-28 victory over the consistent powerhouse Puneri Paltan. Delhi became the first home team since U Mumba in Season 2 to lift the trophy in front of its supporters.

New structure

The season was defined by a critical structural change that injected more pressure into every fixture. The league adopted an expanded format featuring 108 matches and a revamped playoff system that allowed the top eight teams to contend for the title via Play-Ins.
