

Left-arm wrist spinners' wicket tally in IPL 2025 so far

Player	Team	Inns	Wks	RR	Ave	Dot%
Noor Ahmad	CSK	8	12	7.44	16.75	32.7
Vignesh Puthur	MI	4	6	8.45	15.5	32.8
Kuldeep Yadav	DC	7	12	6.21	14.5	39.6

the first left-arm wrist spinner to win the Purple Cap.

Kuldeep, the most seasoned of the lot, has continued his consistent run. The 30-year-old justified Delhi's decision to retain him, taking 12 wickets with his trademark flight and subtle variations.

Noor, meanwhile, has had a breakout season. After spending years behind Rashid Khan at Gujarat Titans, his Rs 10 crore move to CSK gave him a lead role — and he's responded with relentless wicket-taking in an otherwise tough campaign for his team.

Despite their shared skill set and success, Noor and Kuldeep operate differently.

Noor's quick, whippy action and beyond-perpendicular release generate awkward angles and pace. Kuldeep, more orthodox, relies on drift, loop, and deception through the air. Backing them is Mumbai Indians' 24-year-old Vignesh Puthur, a rookie who hasn't yet played senior cricket for Kerala.

Spotted through MI's vast scouting system and mentored by Rashid Khan at MI Cape Town, Vignesh made an immediate impact with a three-wicket haul in his debut against CSK.

Another notable name is Rajasthan Royals' Kumar Kartikeya Singh, whose hybrid style blends orthodox spin with wristy variations — blurring the lines further.

Together, this group has delivered the best economy rate of any bowling type this season: 7.09. It's also the third-best for left-arm wrist spin in IPL history.

What's driving this effectiveness? Variation. Nearly 50% of their deliveries this season have been

Immediate impact: Mumbai Indians' Vignesh Puthur picked three wickets in his debut game against Chennai Super Kings. EMMANUAL YOGINI

Average match impact per bowling types in IPL 2025

