Maja Stark won the U.S. Women’s Open golf to claim her first major championship. She became the sixth Swede to win an LPGA major, and the first since Anna Nordqvist earned the Women’s British

Open title in 2021. Meanwhile, Scottie Scheffler joined Tiger Woods as the only repeat winners of the Memorial. Woods is a five-time winner at Memorial who won three straight from 1999 through 2001. No one had repeated at Muirfield Village since then until Scheffler.

Testing

World Boxing announced that it will introduce mandatory gender testing to determine the eligibility of male and female athletes wanting to take part in its competitions. This policy introduction comes after the furore surrounding boxers, including women’s gold medallist Imane Khelif of Algeria, at the Paris Olympics last year. The body also said it informed the Algerian Boxing Federation that Khelif would have to undergo the test if she wanted to compete at the Eindhoven Box Cup in the Netherlands, scheduled to be held on June 5-10.
