

14 } Vaibhav Suryavanshi's age when he registered the first 50+ score of his IPL career. On April 19, 2025, Suryavanshi became the youngest player to appear in an IPL match, debuting at just 14 years and 23 days for Rajasthan Royals against Lucknow Super Giants in Jaipur. He made an instant impression, hitting a six off the first ball he faced — bowled by Shardul Thakur — and finishing with a composed 23 off 20 balls. Nine days later, on April 28, at the same venue, Suryavanshi made history again. He registered his maiden IPL fifty against Gujarat Titans — and didn't stop there. He converted it into a century, becoming the youngest player in T20 history to score both a fifty and a hundred. No one in IPL history had achieved both landmarks at a younger age.

35 } The number of balls Vaibhav Suryavanshi took to reach his maiden IPL century. In the IPL, only Chris Gayle, who then played for RCB in 2013, did it in fewer balls (30). The teenager has now recorded the quickest IPL century by an Indian, surpassing Yusuf Pathan's effort in 37 balls for Rajasthan Royals against Mumbai Indians at the Brabourne Stadium, Mumbai on 13 March 2010. Meanwhile, Suryavanshi also became the sixth batter to register a T20 century in 35 balls or less on Indian soil, as seen in the list below.
