

2

Shai Hope assumes the role of T20I captain in addition to his existing ODI captaincy, taking over from Rovman Powell who had led the T20 side since May 2023. West Indies' Test captain Kraigg Brathwaite also announced his resignation. Brathwaite, 32, in charge for four years, was appointed Test skipper in place of Jason Holder in March 2021. During Brathwaite's tenure, West Indies earned its first Test victory in Australia in 27 years with a thrilling eight-run win in Brisbane in 2024. A replacement for Brathwaite is yet to be announced.

3

Charlotte Edwards has been announced as the new head coach of the England Women's team, taking over from Jon Lewis, who resigned recently. The former England captain represented her country over 300 times, winning two World Cups and lifting the Ashes five times across a 20-year playing career. Since retiring in 2017, Edwards has coached English domestic and global T20 leagues, enjoying success with Southern Vipers in regional cricket, Southern Brave in The Hundred, Sydney Sixers in the Women's Big Bash League, and Mumbai Indians in the WPL.

4

Will Pucovski announced his retirement from cricket at the age of 27 after a string of concussions, saying he would not risk "any more damage to my brain". The Aussie, who made his debut as a 22-year-old in 2021, scored an impressive 62 against India in the third Test in Sydney. He dislocated his shoulder while fielding in that match, the first of a series of injuries and concussions that derailed his career.

5

Harry Brook was named England's ODI and T20I skipper. The 26-year-old will succeed Jos Buttler, who stepped down from the leadership role after a disappointing outing at the ICC Champions Trophy 2025. Brook, who made his international debut in 2022, has played 26 ODIs, scoring 816 runs with a top score of 110 not out. In T20Is, he has earned 44 caps and was part of the team that won the ICC T20 World Cup in 2022.

6

South Australia completed the highest successful fourth-innings chase in a Sheffield Shield final to end a 29-year title drought. Playing against Queensland in the summit clash, South Australia needed 270 runs to win but was in early trouble before Alex Carey combined with Jason Sangha in a match-winning 202-run partnership. While wicketkeeper-batter Carey fell for 105, Sangha finished unbeaten on 126 to seal the four-wicket victory. It was South Australia's 14th title and first since 1995-96, completing a memorable season after lifting the domestic one-day competition earlier in the month.