

THE ASHES IN AUSTRALIA: 1877—2026

Complete Match-by-Match History (190 Tests)

England Win Australia Win Draw

1877	1877	1879	1881	1882	1882	1882	1883	1883	1883	1884	1885	1885	1885	1887	1887	1887	1888
1892	1892	1892	1894	1895	1895	1895	1897	1898	1898	1898	1900	1901	1902	1902	1902	1902	1903
1904	1904	1904	1904	1908	1908	1908	1908	1911	1911	1912	1912	1912	1920	1920	1920	1921	1921
1924	1925	1925	1925	1928	1928	1928	1929	1932	1932	1932	1933	1933	1936	1936	1937	1937	1937
1937	1946	1946	1947	1947	1947	1947	1951	1951	1951	1954	1954	1955	1955	1958	1958	1958	1959
1959	1959	1962	1962	1963	1963	1963	1965	1966	1966	1966	1970	1970	1971	1971	1971	1974	1974
1974	1975	1975	1975	1977	1977	1977	1978	1979	1979	1979	1980	1980	1982	1982	1982	1982	1982
1983	1986	1986	1986	1987	1987	1987	1990	1990	1991	1991	1994	1994	1995	1995	1998	1998	1998
1998	1999	1999	2002	2002	2002	2002	2003	2006	2006	2006	2007	2010	2010	2010	2011	2013	2013
2013	2013	2013	2014	2017	2017	2017	2017	2021	2021	2021	2022	2022	2025	2025	2025	2025	2026

Ben Stokes and Brendon McCullum's bold Bazball experiment has become the latest English project to collide with Australian reality. Powered by decisive contributions from Mitchell Starc and Travis Head, Australia sealed a 4-1 series victory and retained the Ashes with ruthless efficiency.

Amid the wreckage, England did find one meaningful foothold. A hard-fought victory in Melbourne ended an 18-match winless streak in Australia stretching back to 2011 and spanning five Ashes tours. It was only England's fifth Test win on Australian soil this century, three of which came in its series victory in 2010-11, and the first there for veteran duo Ben Stokes and Joe Root.

England's next opportunity to challenge Australia in its home will come in 2029. The task will remain formidable, but at least it will arrive without the psychological burden of a decade-long drought hanging over the tourist.

Text & Graphics: Pranay Rajiv & Aditya Padinjat

The Grid: 190 total Test Matches played by England in Australia.

The gold-outlined section represents the "Great Drought" — an 18-match winless streak from Jan 2011 to Dec 2025.

The bright blue outline marks Melbourne 2025: England's first win in Australia for 15 years.