

Every lunch break has a hero.

In every school, there is a child who runs a little faster, aims a little truer, and keeps going long after the bell rings. That is where greatness quietly begins. Across campuses everywhere, small sparks of talent are taking shape. These stories deserve to be seen and celebrated.

Schoolyard, a special section by Sportstar is here to shine a light on them, and on the schools that give young athletes the space to grow.

Because sometimes, all it takes to create a champion is a teacher who smiles and says, "Go play."
