South Africa smashes its highest-ever W-ODI total

1 The Proteas women piled up 375 for six, the 13th highest total in women's ODIs.

South Africa turned Gqeberha into a run carnival, sealing the three-match ODI series against Ireland with a commanding 74-run win in the second game as both teams rewrote record books. The Proteas smashed their highest ever women's ODI total, piling up 375 for six, the 13th highest overall. Ireland responded bravely, crossing 300 for only the fifth time, but fell short. Laura Wolvaardt (above) led with a majestic 124, ably supported by Sune Luus' 114 and Dane van Niekerk's fluent 88.
