

INTER MILAN'S LAUTARO MARTÍNEZ SCORED IN FOUR CONSECUTIVE LEAGUE MATCHES, TAKING HIS CLUB TALLY TO 166

Atletico Madrid had an easy day at the office with a 3-0 win against Girona, with Koke, Conor Gallagher and Antoine Griezmann on the scoresheet.

The Basque clubs had an underwhelming end to the year. Athletic Bilbao suffered a 2-1 loss against Espanyol, while Levante held Real Sociedad to a 1-1 draw.

After matchday 17, Barcelona stays top with 46 points. Real Madrid is second with 42, while Atletico (37) and Villarreal occupy third and fourth respectively.

Serie A

Lautaro Martínez continued to underline his status among Inter Milan's greats, scoring the winner in a 1-0 victory against Atalanta to keep the club top of the Serie A table.

The Argentina striker has now scored in four consecutive league matches, ending a tricky 2025 on a positive note. It was his 166th goal for Inter as he closed in on the club's all-time top-three scorers.

Atalanta had a late chance to equalise when Lazar Samardzic found space in front of goal three minutes from time, but he stumbled over his own feet, ending the night on a sour note.

At the San Siro, Christopher Nkunku doubled AC Milan's lead two minutes after half-time, scoring his first Serie A goal for the club.

Nkunku, who joined Milan after winning the FIFA Club World Cup, added a second five minutes later, extending the club's unbeaten league run to 15 matches.

Another former Manchester United player, after Scott McTominay and Romelu Lukaku, continued to shine in Napoli colours as Rasmus Hojlund scored a brace against Cremonese.

Hojlund, who fell out of favour at United, joined Napoli on loan and now has nine goals across all competitions, having recently won the Italian Super Cup.

After 16 rounds, Inter, Milan and Napoli occupy the top three spots with 36, 35 and 34 points respectively. Verona, which won its previous two matches against Atalanta and Fiorentina, remains in the relegation zone, two points behind Genoa, which sits just outside the bottom three.

Bundesliga

Bayern Munich kept its title charge steady, thrashing Heidenheim 4-0 courtesy of strikes from Josip Stanisic, Michael Olise, Luis Diaz and Harry Kane. Kane, who has taken the Bundesliga by storm, finished 2025 with another record. With his stoppage-time goal, he reached 100 goal involvements in 78 games — the fastest in the league's history.

Borussia Dortmund beat Borussia Monchengladbach 2-0, with Julian Brandt and Maximilian Beier scoring.
