

Henil Patel

With a five-wicket haul in India's opener against the USA at the ICC Men's U-19 World Cup, Henil Patel emerged as one of the breakout stars of the tournament. The right-arm medium pacer was responsible for 11 dismissals overall, while maintaining a solid economy of 4.44. His performances earned him a place in the Team of the Tournament as the 12th man. The Gujarat native was also part of the 2025 U-19 Asia Cup, where he took five wickets in four games.

Deepesh Devendran

Deepesh Devendran has been known to bowl at speeds just shy of 140kph, and has occasionally crossed that mark as well. Standing at six feet tall, the steep bounce he generates, combined with his sheer pace, makes him a constant threat. The 18-year-old showed his mettle at the World Cup, taking six wickets in five games while maintaining an economy of 6.67. The right-arm quick is also regarded as a capable hitter at the death and offered a glimpse of that ability with a 16-ball 36 in the U-19 Asia Cup final.

Harvansh Singh

Saurashtra's Harvansh Singh Pangalia was India U-19's second-choice wicketkeeper-batter in the squad. An injury to Aaron George during the group stage opened the door for the southpaw to feature in the playing XI. He was dismissed for two against Bangladesh and was not required to bat against the USA. He did, however, top-score for the team in the first Youth ODI against South Africa with a fluent 93, just ahead of the World Cup. Harvansh had also impressed against Australia during the second Youth Test in Chennai in 2024, where he scored a hundred.

Mohammed Enaan

The lone leg-spinner in India's U-19 World Cup squad, Mohammed Enaan played just one game in the competition, against New Zealand. The Thrissur-born tweaker picked up a solitary wicket in his seven-over spell, conceding just 26 runs. He did, however, feature in the away series in South Africa, where he picked up two wickets across three matches. Enaan's batting ability was also on display during the tri-series in Bengaluru in November 2025, when he made an unbeaten 105 for India U-19 A against India U-19 B.

Udhav Mohan

Pacer Udhav Mohan is the latest national talent to emerge from the West Delhi Cricket Academy, run by Rajkumar Sharma, the childhood coach of Virat Kohli. The right-arm medium pacer played just one match in the World Cup, returning figures of three for 20 in the Super Six stage. The 19-year-old managed only one appearance each in the bilateral series against South Africa and the U-19 Asia Cup as well, but has been among the wickets whenever given an opportunity.

Kishan Kumar Singh

Although he was named in the squad, Kishan Kumar Singh did not make a single appearance at the ICC Men's U-19 World Cup. The Lucknow-born bowler, however, featured in both of India's warm-up matches for the tournament, against England and Scotland. Kishan is a left-arm medium-fast bowler and was initially selected for the U-19 World Cup squad after strong performances in the 2025 U-19 Asia Cup, where he took five wickets and played an integral role in India's run to the final.
