

- Delete (D): Deletes existing data records from the system. For example, bloggers delete their posted blog articles, and the system removes the records.

CRUD in web applications

In web applications, the CRUD concept is executed through web pages. For example:

- Content editors go to the content posting page (Create Page) to post their content.
- The posted content can be read by users on a list-style page with a list of many content items (List Page) or a particular content page (Detail Page).
- When content editors want to edit or delete the existing content, they can edit or delete it on the Update Page or Delete Page.