

```

<h2 class="m-5 text-center">{% trans "Add E-mail Address" %}</h2>
{% load crispy_forms_tags %}
<form method="post" action="{% url 'account_email' %}"
class="add_email">
    {% csrf_token %}
    {{ form|crispy }}
    <button name="action_add" type="submit" class="btn btn-primary d-block mx-auto">{% trans "Add E-mail" %}</button> </form>
{% endif %}

{% endblock %}

```

Now the page looks like this.

Note: Super Reload

Although you edited the html file and saved it, your browser may display the old content. This is because the browser may not recognize if there were changes in the html file. And, the browser renders the old content using cache.

To make the browser refresh the content to the new content, you need to super-reload the content. Usually, you need to click on the