

The Sports Development Authority of Tamil Nadu (SDAT) worked meticulously to ensure the smooth and successful conduct of this event. The SDAT invested a significant amount of money to refurbish these venues, with the aim of providing the players with the best infrastructure to showcase their skills.

The Jawaharlal Nehru stadium was revamped with a state-of-the-art blue athletics track, while the Nehru Park indoor stadium was fully renovated. The newly-built velodrome at Tamil Nadu Physical Education and Sports University ensured that cycling events were held in the host state itself, which is a first in the history of the games.

Apart from the athletes, the games saw the participation of 1240 support staff, 1020 technical officials, 455 sports-specific volunteers, 1450 general volunteers, 39 chefs de mission and 26 competition managers. As many as 30 records were broken during the games. Out of the 30, eight were new meet records and 22 were national records. Females set 24 out of the 30 records. Athletics contributed eight meet landmarks to this tally, but weightlifting dominated the record-setting spree, with the lifters shattering the national record mark 22 times across categories. Maharashtra topped the medal tally with a total of 158, including 57 gold, 48 silver, and 53 bronze.

For the first time ever in the history of the Khelo India Youth Games, Tamil Nadu secured a podium finish as it came second in the medal tally with a total of 98 medals including 38 gold, 21 silver, and 39 bronze.

The hosts were a mighty force in track and field, winning 11 of the 32 athletics gold medals on offer. It is worth mentioning that the students of the SDAT sports hostels won 17 medals, drawing special appreciation from the Honourable Minister for Youth Welfare and Sports Development, Govt. of Tamil Nadu, Thiru. Udhayanidhi Stalin.

The curtain came down on the Games at a spectacular closing ceremony presided over by the Honourable Union Minister of Youth Affairs and Sports, Information and Broadcasting, Govt. of India, Thiru. Anurag Singh Thakur, and Honourable Minister for Youth Welfare and Sports Development, Thiru. Udhayanidhi Stalin on January 31, 2024.

Honourable Minister for Youth Welfare and Sports Development, Thiru. Udhayanidhi Stalin in his address during the closing ceremony stated, "The success of Khelo India Youth Games 2023 reaffirms Tamil Nadu's commitment to sports and its capability to successfully organize and execute grand events of national and international significance."
