South Africa women claimed their maiden ODI victory against Australia, winning the second game in North Sydney by 84 runs (DLS method) and levelling the three-match series 1-1 (Marizanne Kapp in pic). This was South Africa's first win over Australia in the 50-over format in 17 matches, having lost 15 previously and tied one. However, the Aussies bounced back in the last game, clinching the series 2-1.

Australian all-rounder Glenn Maxwell equalled India captain Rohit Sharma's record for the most Men's T20I hundreds (five) with an unbeaten 120 off 55 balls against the West Indies in the second game. Australia posted 241-4, its highest Twenty20 total on home soil. The West Indies finished on 207-9 in response as Australia clinched the series 2-0 with one match to play. Maxwell's 120 was also the highest score made in a T20 International at the Adelaide Oval.

Pathum Nissanka became the first Sri Lankan batter to score an ODI double hundred in a 42-run win over Afghanistan in Pallekele. Nissanka's unbeaten 210, which was studded with 20 fours and eight sixes from 139 balls, is the joint fifth-highest individual score in ODIs. He went past Sanath Jayasuriya's long-standing ODI record score of 189 for Sri Lanka against India in 2000. Nissanka's total is also the highest for any batter in ODIs against Afghanistan.

Sunrisers Eastern Cape, led by Marco Jansen's five-wicket haul, dominated Durban's Super Giants, securing an 89-run victory to clinch consecutive SA20 titles in a powerful team display at Newlands. Captain Aiden Markram said after the win: "It's a great feeling; to be in the final was a proud moment, and to rock up here and play that game of cricket was a testament to where we're going as a team. The competition is tough; every game you have to be at your best. It was nice to have some momentum and carry that through, but today was a fresh start, and luckily we put together a good performance. The bowlers were the shining light, and the batters got us over the line. Incredibly proud of this group."
