

Maiden title caps Puneri Paltan's league of dominance

The Paltans won the title with a level of authority unheard of in the 10 seasons of PKL, with only two defeats in 24 matches.

Saikat Chakraborty

saikat.chakraborty@thehindu.co.in

The night was filled with the thunderous roar of thousands inside the Gachibowli Indoor Stadium in Hyderabad as Puneri Paltan won the Pro Kabaddi League (PKL) championship by defeating the Haryana Steelers in a close encounter.

After 75 days of intense action, the grand finale saw two teams from the traditional kabaddi heartlands of Maharashtra and Haryana compete for their first PKL title. Paltan, the Maharashtra team, had an impenetrable defence led by the indomitable Mohammadreza Chiyaneh, and their offence was spearheaded by the skipper Aslam Inamdar.

The Steelers defied the odds, with their journey a testament to the unwavering spirit that saw them vanquish giants and silence doubters. Their defence was a shield against the onslaught of raiding prowess, marshalled by the