In good touch: Aishwary Pratap Singh Tomar bagged silver in the men's rifle 3-position event in the Asian shooting championship in Jakarta, Indonesia, recently. AP time around owing to additional 'merit points' that came along with it. This year, however, new selection policies have brought its value down. The quota holders will now fight for a seat on the Paris flight with the top three national shooters (who have participated in a minimum of two ISSF championships) and 'deemed quota holders' during a series of domestic qualifying competitions starting in May in New Delhi and Bhopal.

'Deemed quota holders' are those who missed out on a place because the designated two spots in the respective athlete's discipline had already been accounted for. The best three scores of a total of four trials will be considered for calculating a Final Average Score (FAS). As per the amended criteria, those who have earned the quotas in firearm events (50m rifle and 25m pistol) will get two bonus points added to their FAS, while airgun events (10m air rifle and air pistol) will grant you only one point.

Booking the ticket: Esha Singh won India's 15th Paris Olympics quota with a gold medal in the women's 10m Air Pistol final in the Asian Olympic Qualifier in Jakarta recently. S. MAHINSHA

WHILE ON PAPER, INDIA CAN GRAB ALL 24 QUOTAS, IT WILL BE A TALL TASK
