85 } The number of bowlers with 200 or more wickets in a Test career. Jasprit Bumrah, in the Melbourne Test match on 29 January 2024, became the latest entrant to join this list of bowlers, with the wicket of Travis Head. He thus became the 12th Indian and sixth Indian pacer to achieve this landmark. Bumrah's achievement is remarkable because he became the first bowler in Test cricket history to take 200 wickets with a bowling average of less than 20 runs. By reaching his 200th Test wicket in his 44th Test, he is now the quickest Indian pace bowler to reach this landmark. Kapil Dev, in 1983, needed 50 Tests. Among Indians, only R. Ashwin (37 Tests) has done it quicker. Ravindra Jadeja, too, needed 44 Tests, same as Bumrah, to 200 wickets. In terms of balls bowled, Bumrah (8484 deliveries) is the fourth-quickest in the history of Test cricket, after Pakistani Waqar Younis (7725) and South Africans Dale Steyn (7848) and Kagiso Rabada (8153).

Test bowlers with the lowest bowling average while claiming their 200th Test wicket

Note: The figures above are updated to the end of the innings when the bowler claimed his 200th Test wicket.

2 } The number of Indian batters below 23 years to register three-figure scores, while batting at #8 and lower. At 21 years and 217 days, Nitish Reddy joins former wicketkeeper Ajay Ratra in achieving this feat during his defiant century at the MCG on 28 December 2024. Reddy, meanwhile, became the youngest to achieve this in a Test match in Australia.
