As part of the ICC Olympics Working Group, Shah was instrumental in cricket's return to the Olympics, beginning with the Los Angeles 2028 Games. His tenure also saw the introduction of the Pay Parity Policy, ensuring equal match fees for

India's men and women cricketers, and a 300-700% increase in prize money for domestic tournaments.

Shah's visionary leadership and reforms have solidified his place as one of the most influential administrators in cricket today.
