

and that's when he becomes a lot more dangerous.

"He didn't start off in the tournament for us, but when he played against New Zealand and picked up a five-for, we saw the kind of ability he possesses. We wanted to maximise that, and he didn't disappoint. He's got great quality in his bowling, luckily it came to use at various times."

Rohit was effusive in his praise for the entire spin attack. "Not just this game but right from the beginning, our spinners in particular, there's too many expectations when you are playing on a pitch like that, but they never disappointed," Rohit said. "We do understand their strengths; playing on pitches like these helped and we used it to our advantage. Throughout the tournament, in terms of bowling, we were very consistent."
