

Addressing spin struggles

24.66

Delhi Capitals endured two underwhelming seasons with the bat, often struggling against spin. It had the lowest batting average against spinners among all teams and scored at a modest 7.94 runs per over. To rectify this, DC has bolstered its middle order with the likes of Tristan Stubbs, Axar Patel and Sameer Rizvi, aiming for a stronger showing against slow bowling.

Strength in death overs

Delhi excelled in the death overs with the best economy rate (9.52) from the 16th to 20th over across the last two seasons. Its bowlers conceded boundaries from just 19.14% of deliveries in 27 innings. Mukesh Kumar, who picked up nine wickets in this phase, will once again be key, now partnered with Mitchell Starc – bringing the left-arm angle and toe-crushing yorkers – and Mohit Sharma, renowned for his deceptive variations.
