New Zealand Women clinch series against Sri Lanka

1 The first game of the series was abandoned due to rain.

New Zealand Women blanked Sri Lanka 2-0 in a three-match One-Day International series after the first game was abandoned due to rain. New Zealand opener Georgia Plimmer smashed her maiden hundred in the third ODI to guide her team to a match-winning 280 for six before Sri Lanka folded for 182, with Jess Kerr and Fran Jonas picking up three wickets each. The White Ferns took a 1-0 lead in the series thanks to Maddy Green's century in the second ODI, which helped her side post 245 for seven. In reply, Sri Lanka could only manage just 167 runs, as medium pacer Hannah Rowe picked up four for 31 to hand New Zealand a 78-run win.
