

Zimbabwe clinched only its third-ever win over Pakistan in T20Is, but it was too little, too late for the host, as the Salman Agha-led side took the series 2-1. Left-arm wrist-spinner Sufiyan Muqeem (above) starred for Pakistan, picking up nine wickets in three games and ensuring the batters didn't have to do the heavy lifting. Muqeem and leg-spinner Abrar Ahmed claimed three wickets each in the first T20I to restrict Zimbabwe to 108 in a 166-run chase. Muqeem's five-wicket haul in the second match skittled Zimbabwe for 57, which Pakistan's openers overhauled inside the PowerPlay to claim the series with a match to spare.

Indian national team players struggled to find buyers, while the uncapped ones struck gold in the Women's Premier League mini-auction. Sneha Rana, Poonam Yadav, Shubha Satheesh, Mansi Joshi, and Tejal Hasabnis didn't find bidders, even as the likes of Simran Shaikh, G. Kamalini, and Prema Rawat fetched large sums. All-rounder Simran (in pic) received the highest bid of Rs 1.90 crore from Gujarat Giants. Kamalini was bought by Mumbai Indians for Rs 1.60 crore. The 16-year-old from Tamil Nadu was the second-highest scorer in the Under-19 Women's T20 Trophy, which TN won in October. Meanwhile, Royal Challengers Bengaluru signed Prema Rawat for Rs 1.20 crore.

South Africa continued its march towards a maiden World Test Championship final berth with a 2-0 sweep of Sri Lanka at home. It wrapped up the second Test with a 109-run victory as Sri Lanka lost its last five wickets for just 19 runs while chasing 348. Skipper Temba Bavuma, who starred in the Proteas' 233-run win in the first Test, continued his rich vein of form, scoring two fifties in the second Test and finishing the series with a whopping 327 runs. Though Sri Lanka put up a much-improved show with the bat in the second Test, Dane Paterson and Keshav Maharaj's five-wicket hauls in the first and second innings, respectively, curtailed the visitor's resistance.

Bangladesh secured its first Test triumph in the West Indies since 2009 by winning the second Test by 101 runs and levelling the series 1-1. After taking a narrow 18-run first-innings lead, thanks to pacer Nahid Rana's five-wicket haul, Bangladesh rode on Jaker Ali's 91 in the second innings to set the host a 287-run target. In response, West Indies could only manage 185, with left-arm spinner Taijul Islam (above) picking up a five-for. However, West Indies bounced back in the ODI leg, sweeping the series 3-0, courtesy of debutant Amir Jangoo's hundred in the final game.
