« It's pretty crazy. Right now I can't process it, but I guess tonight when I go to bed, I'll think about it.” – Gout Gout, 16, made history by running 200m in 20.04 seconds at the Australian All Schools Athletics Championship, breaking the long-standing record of Peter Norman (20.06), set during the 1968 Olympic Games »

« I'm still aiming to get to Formula One and I think if we see a female there, we won't have a 17-year-old Max Verstappen-esque kind of entry. That's the harsh reality.” – Abbi Pulling after winning the all-female F1 Academy title »

11th

American swimmer Gretchen Walsh set her 10th world record at the world short course championships with gold in the 50-metre freestyle final before adding an 11th as part of the winning U.S. team in the women's 4x100 medley relay. Walsh finished the 50 free at Budapest's Duna Arena in 22.83 seconds — 0.22 ahead of fellow American Kate Douglass in second. Walsh later extended her world record total to 11 — nine individual and two in relays — when the United States, comprised of Regan Smith, Lilly King, Walsh and Douglass, won the relay in 3 minutes, 40.41 seconds. That started with Smith's backstroke lead-off leg of 54.02 seconds, also a world record.

2nd

Shaun Norris of South Africa won the Alfred Dunhill Golf Championship at Leopard Creek Country Club after a final-round 67 gave him a 13-under-par total of 275 and a one-shot victory. It was a second win in the DP World Tour for the 42-year-old. Englishman John Parry, Ryan van Velzen from South Africa and overnight leader Marcus Kinhult finished tied for second, one shot back.
