West Indies won its first Test at home in two-and-a-half years after beating Bangladesh in the opener of the two-match series by 201 runs. Justin Greaves' hundred and nineties by Mikyle Louis and Alick Athanaze powered West Indies to 450 for nine declared in the first innings, while Alzarri Joseph picked three wickets to contain Bangladesh for 269 for nine. Taskin Ahmed dominated in the second innings with a six-fer, as the host was limited to 152. The visitor's chase of 334 was brought to a close at 132 for nine after Shoriful Islam, who was struck on the back of his shoulder, retired hurt.

Pakistan registered a 2-1 victory over Zimbabwe in the three-match ODI series. The first match saw Zimbabwe win by 80 runs – the host was reduced to 205, but Pakistan crumbled to 60 for six before the rains ended the game. Pakistan bounced back in the second game, as Saim Ayub's blistering century helped Pakistan chase 145 with 10 wickets to spare. The visitor made it two in two after completing a 99-run victory in the decider – Kamran Ghulam's (left) hundred and Abdullah Shafique's fifty took Pakistan to 303, but Zimbabwe skipper Craig Ervine's half-century was in vain as his side could manage only 204.

England completed a 3-0 clean sweep over South Africa with a nine-wicket win in the third and final WT20I. Charlie Dean picked up three wickets to restrict South Africa to 124, before Danni Wyatt-Hodge made short work of the target with an unbeaten fifty. England's dominant run in the series was enabled by Nat Sciver-Brunt (left), who hit back-to-back fifties in the first two games and tallied 126 in the series to bag the Player-of-the-Series award. With the ball, the spin duo of Dean and Sarah Glenn picked 11 wickets between them in the series to help England blank the Proteas.
