

From the spot: Mason Greenwood (extreme right) scored a late penalty in the 89th minute to help Marseille win against AS Monaco. The team is now second, tied on points with Monaco.

REUTERS

Atletico Madrid left it late to beat Deportivo Alaves in Diego Simeone's 700th game as club manager.

After going a goal down in the seventh minute, Atletico was awarded a penalty late in the match, which Antoine Griezmann dispatched into the back of the net.

With four minutes of regulation time remaining, Alexander Sorloth then squeezed the ball past the opposition keeper to complete the comeback win.

The following week, the club had five different goalscorers as it thrashed Real Valladolid 5-0 away from home. Simeone's side sits third in the table, one point behind second-placed Real Madrid, having played a game more.

Ligue 1

Joao Neves, Lucas Beraldo and Vitinha found the back of the net as Paris Saint-Germain (PSG) beat Toulouse FC to keep its unbeaten streak alive in the league this season.

Luis Enrique's side, however, dropped points when it was held to a 1-1 draw by Nantes at the Parc des Princes in its next league match. Achraf Hakimi's second-minute strike was cancelled out by Matthis Abline, as PSG took a seven-point lead at the top of the standings.

Marseille climbed to second in the table after back-to-back wins against RC Lens and AS Monaco, with Mason Greenwood scoring the winner from the spot in the 89th minute against the latter. Monaco sits third, level on points with Marseille, after 13 games.

Edon Zhegrova scored the only goal as LOSC Lille beat Stade Rennais, but it was held to a 2-2 draw by last-placed Montpellier in its next game. Arnaud Nordin grabbed the equaliser in the fifth minute of second-half stoppage time for Montpellier, in an ill-tempered match that saw Tanguy Coulibaly and Mitchel Bakker sent off in the closing stages following clashes between the teams.

Lille makes up the top four, trailing leader PSG by 10 points.

« Romelu Lukaku scored from close range to hand Napoli its ninth win of the season »