

First of many: Real Madrid's Kylian Mbappe found the back of the net twice in an otherwise shaky 2-0 win against Real Betis. AFP

Leverkusen's dream run ends as Mbappe opens Spanish account

Here's what has unfolded in Europe's top five leagues as matches pause for the international break.

Joan Mathew Jacob
joan.mathew@thehindu.co.in

Premier League

It's three wins in three for defending champion Manchester City, as Erling Haaland (left) nabbed yet another hat-trick in a 3-1 victory against West Ham United.

The 24-year-old Norwegian has now scored seven goals in three games and climbed to joint-fourth in the all-time hat-tricks list in the Premier League, with his eighth coming up in just 69 games, four behind leader Sergio Aguero.

With Phil Foden, John Stones, and Rodri getting well-earned rest on the bench ahead of the international break, Pep Guardiola's side sits at the top of the Premier League, with Liverpool right on its tail, level on points.

Liverpool cruised to a 3-0 victory against fierce rival Manchester United as Luis Diaz preyed on Casemiro's errors to take a two-goal lead in the first half, with Mohamed Salah adding a third 11 minutes into the second. Arne Slot has seamlessly filled the gap left by Jurgen Klopp as manager, with his side yet to

AFP