

» Masked marauder: France's Kylian Mbappe scored his first-ever European Championship goal, converting from the spot in his side's final group stage match against Poland. The French captain donned a protective mask during the game after sustaining an injury to the nose in France's only victory in the group stage against Austria in its first match. Polish talisman Robert Lewandowski went on to score an equaliser in the game, scoring from the spot after his initial penalty was saved but retaken after VAR checks adjudged that goalkeeper Mike Maignan had advanced off his line too early while making the save. France ended the group stage with one win and two draws, finishing one point behind group winner Austria. AP

» Own goals galore: Dutchman Donyell Malen (bottom right) added his name to the long and growing list of own-goal scorers in the tournament after directing the ball past his own keeper Bart Verbruggen in the sixth minute of the group stage match against Austria. So far, there have been eight own goals in Euro 2024, the number steadily inching close to the record of 11, scored in the last edition. Austria went on to beat the Netherlands 3-2, thanks to an 80th-minute winner from Marcel Sabitzer, which helped Ralf Rangnick's high-tempo side finish first in a group containing heavyweights France and Netherlands.
