

DICTIONARIES

Dictionaries allow you to establish connections between individual pieces of information, such as a state's abbreviation and its full name. There is no limit to the amount of information you can store in a dictionary.

As with lists, you can work with all the information in a dictionary or with any part of a dictionary. These cards show you how to create and work with dictionaries.