

Otherwise, the program displays either the `WALL` or `EMPTY` constant's character at this x, y coordinate in the `maze` data structure by printing `maze[(x, y)]` in Python and `maze[[x, y]]` in JavaScript. After the inner `for` loop is done looping over the x-coordinates, we print a newline at the end of the row in preparation for the next row.