

40} The number of innings Yashasvi Jaiswal took to reach 2000 Test runs in his Test career — during his knock in the second innings of the Edgbaston Test. He, Rahul Dravid and Virender Sehwag, are now the quickest to reach this milestone for India in Tests in the fewest innings. However, Jaiswal is the quickest to reach in the fewest matches for India. Jaiswal is also the quickest among Indians to achieve this in terms of days — in 723 days (1 year, 11 months, 22 days), and overall, he is the fifth fastest in terms of days in Test cricket, as shown in the second table.

9} The number of batters to aggregate 430+ runs in a First-Class game. India captain Shubman Gill is the latest to join this elite list. His aggregate of 430 is the second highest by an Indian after Bhau Nimbalkar's 443. However, Gill now has the highest by an Indian while leading a side. Only two others, Graham Gooch and Angelo Perera (as listed below), have made more runs as captain than Gill in a First-Class match.

Notes: * Gill's 430 runs are the most made by a #4 batter in a FC match. The previous highest was the 428 (in one innings) by Aftab Baloch for Sind against Baluchistan in Karachi in February 1974.

* Gill's 269 is the highest score by an Indian #4 and by an Indian captain, bettering Virat Kohli's 254 not out vs South Africa in Pune in Oct 2019.

* Gill is now the only player in cricket history with a 400+ in a Test match, a 200+ (208) in an ODI and a 100+ (126*) in a T20I match.

* Gill (25y-301d) is second youngest captain in FC cricket to register a 200+ and 100+ in a match after South African Jean du Plessis (24y-345d) who scored 203 & 101* for South Western Districts in Nov 2023.

* Gill (25y-301d) is the youngest captain in Test cricket to make twin centuries in a match. The previous record was held by his former teammate Virat Kohli (26y-38d) during his 115 & 141 in Adelaide in Dec 2014.

All records are correct and updated until 7 July 2025.
