Xavier Institute of Management and Entrepreneurship

If one chooses to pursue a career in management, one needs to find the right college that offers the best quality of management education. The demand for MBAs in both the private and public sector is at an all-time high and that also means that there's a growth in the number of Management Institutes. A management course takes about 2 years and costs anywhere between Rs. 8L to even Rs. 25L. It is important that a student must consider several factors before deciding on the college for their MBA.

Why XIME?

XIME was established in 1991 by Prof. J. Philip, Principal Founder and builder of the XIME legacy. XIME has three well-planned campuses in Bangalore, Kochi and Chennai, strategically located close to electronics or manufacturing clusters.

Residential PGDM

XIME's residential PGDM programme has served as a springboard for several top alumni. Their testimonials have become legendary in the last 25 years. The PGDM course is developed with the future in mind. That gives our students the cutting edge. XIME constantly endeavors to ensure that the curriculum offers students a result-driven educational experience, meaning that it stays up to date with trends in the corporate world as well as environmental and social concerns.

Expectations from PGDM at XIME:

XIME's PGDM Programme focuses on the best business practices from around the world to prepare the students for working anywhere in the globe. Students are required to be in residence which gives them access to important campus resources like the faculty and library and helps in peer-learning. By encouraging students to think critically and evaluating trade offs rather than blindly following procedures, XIME prepares its students to work with world's leading organizations. Students spend considerable time analyzing Harvard Business School case studies and also get the opportunity to partake in XIME's International Studies program with partner institutions across the world, like for example France or some of the BRICS countries.

The Diversity Factor

The intake process at XIME is based entirely on merit. From the earliest batches twenty eight years ago, the intake has always reflected an equitable gender balance and diversity with students from all parts of the country. The strength of a Management Institute is about how far and how diversely one is able to look into the future. Keeping this in mind, XIME has distinctive courses that encourage students to think beyond the obvious, make them more confident and future-ready even before joining the corporate world.

The Distinctiveness

- Contemporary Business Environment: An opportunity for students to learn about major events happening all over the world and to analyze how these global events/trends or macro-economic policies impact business.
- Business Ethics: XIME emphasizes the importance of responsible behavior even before graduating to corporate citizenship.
- XIME's Socially Useful Productive Activity (SUPA) initiative highlights the importance of ethical business practices in students so they are well prepared to handle situations that call for sensitivity and a sense of responsibility.

Principal Founder, XIME

- CSR & Environmental Sustainability in Business: XIME has been working on CSR projects for decades that have made the students an important contributor to society. It was a natural choice for the college to help students learn about sustainability, making them more appealing to potential employers.

- Entrepreneurship: XIME's curriculum is designed to encourage entrepreneurship in the young minds by inspiring possibilities and promoting many original career opportunities. The students are inspired to come up with new ways of approaching their future.

- Leadership in Action: Students can find leadership practices across the globe in these business case studies, preparing themselves for socially responsible leadership.

XIME provides its students opportunity to see the real world from new perspectives and learn to function at a higher level, with greater confidence.

As the world progresses and changes, it is important for the young generation to be prepared for the future. That is what happens at XIME.
