Pakistan will host Sri Lanka for a three-match ODI series in November, their first home meeting since 2019. The sides last faced off at the 2023 ODI World Cup, where Pakistan won by six wickets. The ODI series will be followed by a home T20I tri-series also featuring Afghanistan, Pakistan's maiden tri-series on home soil. Its packed season also includes an all-format tour by South Africa beginning in October.

New Zealand great Ross Taylor is set to come out of retirement to represent Samoa at the T20 World Cup qualifiers in Oman next month. Taylor, who retired in 2022, played more matches than any other New Zealander: 112 Tests, 236 ODIs and 102 T20Is. He is New Zealand's second-highest Test run-scorer (7,683) and century-maker (19), behind only Kane Williamson. Honouring his Samoan heritage through his mother Lote, Taylor will play under his given names and chiefly title, Leaupepe Luteru Ross Poutoa Lote Taylor.

The Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) will hold its 95th Annual General Meeting on September 28 in Mumbai. As per procedure, notices have gone out to all affiliated members. Elections, if necessary, will be held the same day. The Board will continue to follow Lodha Committee guidelines, including the 70-year age cap for office bearers, with the National Sports Act yet to be formally implemented. The AGM agenda includes electing a new committee, along with constituting fresh IPL Governing Council and Women's Premier League panels.

Pakistan warmed up for the Asia Cup with a dominant win in the UAE tri-series final, beating Afghanistan by 75 runs in Sharjah. Mohammad Nawaz claimed a hat-trick on his way to career-best T20I figures of 5 for 19 as Afghanistan folded for 66 in 15.5 overs, chasing 142 on a tricky surface. Afghanistan's only win in the tournament came against Pakistan earlier, when Rashid Khan's side secured an 18-run victory with a collective bowling effort. Host UAE went winless.
