A costly single saved: England, led by Gus Atkinson, restricted India to just 224 in the first innings. However, perhaps the most telling moment came when the experienced Chris Woakes suffered a shoulder injury while diving to save a boundary — an injury that effectively ruled him out for the rest of the match. One reverse too many: Ben Duckett (43) and Zak Crawley (64) got England off to a flying start, adding 92 runs in just 13 overs. However, Duckett fell attempting to reverse-scoop Akash Deep, earning himself a send-off — part hug, part taunt — from the fast bowler. His dismissal triggered a collapse, with England losing its final eight wickets for just 118 runs and ending with a slender lead of 23.
