

Angkrish Raghuvanshi

— Kolkata Knight Riders

Angkrish Raghuvanshi has proved to be a value-for-money pick for Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) this season.

The 18-year-old, who was India's leading scorer in the Under-19 World Cup 2022 in the Caribbean, was signed by KKR for Rs 20 Lakh in the 2024 mini-auction.

Raghuvanshi repaid the faith with a half-century against Delhi Capitals, making him the youngest to notch up an IPL fifty on debut. The 25-ball half-century was also the second-fastest by a batter in their first outing.

In six innings, Raghuvanshi's orthodox technique and youthful flamboyance have helped him carve out a space amidst heavyweights like Shreyas Iyer, Andre Russell, and Rinku Singh in the KKR batting order.

N. Sai Sudharsan

— Gujarat Titans

Though the high of back-to-back IPL finals may be waning off for Gujarat Titans (GT), Sai Sudharsan has not let that trickle down into his batting. In a season riddled with inconsistency, Sudharsan has given his side something to cheer for.

The fact that Sudharsan has only two scores of less than 30 runs in 11 innings this year is a sign of his consistency. Sudharsan's performances have been invaluable for GT, given new skipper Shubman Gill's underwhelming returns. Currently third in the Orange Cap standings with 424 runs, Sudharsan has already bettered his breakout season (362 runs in 2023) and is a contender for the 'Emerging Player of the Year' award.
