Two final-over run-outs helped Pakistan edge through.

Pakistan made a terrific comeback in the fifth match against New Zealand to win by nine runs and level the T20I series 2-2. Shaheen Shah Afridi's 4/30 helped his side defend the 178-run total, put up after captain Babar Azam's 69 off 33 deliveries. After the first match was washed out, New Zealand was bowled out for 90 in the second to hand Pakistan a fairly easy win.

However, the Kiwis fought back in the third and fourth games to lead the series briefly, and were on track to win the fifth game. Two final-over run-outs helped Pakistan edge through.
