

counting steps, 57–60

D

decimals to continued fractions, 86–88

decision trees. See also AI (artificial intelligence) game trees; machine learning; random forests

- adding depth to, 175–177

- building, 167

- calculating happiness levels, 170

- choosing split points, 182

- choosing splitting variables, 173–175, 182

- downloading datasets, 168

- evaluating, 178–182

- looking at data, 168–169

- nodes, 167

- out-of-sample observations, 180

- overfitting, 181–182

- overview, 165–166

- prediction errors, 171–172

- problem of overfitting, 179–181

- pruning, 182, 199

- in-sample observations, 180

- simplifying, 181–182

- split points, 171

- splitting data, 169–173

- test sets, 180

- training sets, 180